THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 20TH, 1973

Established in 1882 as the Water Levels Of No Effect On Cottagers

A study of water fluctuation in the Haliburton area showed that the variations in the water levels whether done naturally or artificially makes very little difference to the cottagers. The report was done by the Canada Ontario Rideau Trent Severn Waterway study and consisted of making a report on some 41 reservoir lakes in the Haliburton sector of the Rideau-Trent Severn Waterway Corridor.

Under the control of the Federal Government, this system of lakes, river and dams is used to maintain the canal waters at navigational depths and for flood control. This means that the water is drawn off from the reservoir lakes on an equal basis which means that some lakes, depending on the topography, area and depth, may fluctuate as little as two feet while others might vary as much as 13 feet. The average fluctuation throughout the 3,000 square miles is six feet.

The survey showed that cottagers who are aware of the situation adapt easily by using floating rafts and docks. The survey recommended that the federal authorities should inform prospective cottage purchasers about the water fluctuation.

The C.O.R.T.S. report indicates that fluctuating water levels are less severe where the shore is essentially rock base with a steep fall-off to deeper water. Cottagers who have high grade sand beaches and shallow water feel a more pronounced effect.

The report gives to the canal authority a clearer picture of the topography in the lake system which would minimize the detrimental effects on water oriented recreation.

Minden Area Searched For Missing Plane

The Canadian Armed Forces out of Trenton have been searching since Monday for a plane that is believed to have gone down in the Lindsay - Minden area. The single engine Champ aircraft, with two men aboard, has been missing since Sunday afternoon.

The Air and Sea Rescue Squadron of the Canadian Forces Base in Trenton have had two planes involved in the search and there is also two civilian planes from the Lindsay area helping to look.

Two military and one civilian craft searched unsuccessfully on Monday and Tuesday for the missing plane with pilot Cecil Amadio of Niagara Falls and passenger Ronald Barrow of Detroit aboard.

The plane took off from a small airport at Decew Falls near St. Catharines on Sunday morning and was headed for the Minden area to look at a campsite. The plane was last seen leaving the Lindsay Airport after refueling. It had five hours of fuel aboard at that time. Officials became concerned when it did not return on Sunday.

The search is being concentrated in the Minden area although no flight plan was filed and officials aren't sure where the plane was headed for.

O.P.P. Constable Moved To Milton

We learned this week that Constable Larry Scott, who has been with the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police for four and one-half years, has been transferred to the O.P.P. at Milton, Ontario. Larry, along with his wife Caren, will be leaving this Friday for their new home in Milton.

While in Minden, besides his police duties, he was very active in community affairs and took a great interest in the young people and sports activities. He was President of the Minden Minor Hockey Association, Chairman of the Recreation and Community Centre Boards, members of the Minden Rotary Club, President of the Minden Minor Ball Association, and he also played softball for the Dominion Hotel Shufflers in the Haliburton County Senior Men's Softball League.

We are certainly sorry to see Larry leave the Highlands as he said he really enjoyed it here, but we wish him and his wife the best of luck on their move to Milton.

Just try and buy those items for those prices today.

The Problems Of Alcohol And Drug Abuse To Be Discussed

The community has a problem, and it also has a partial solution to that problem. The problem is that of alcohol and drug abuse, and the solution is the community working together for a common goal. But we still need assistance in reaching that goal; we need information, honest, unwatered down facts and we need to talk to and to listen to those who have or who are right now working on the same problem. We need to hear what other people are doing and to understand why.

On the 29th of September, some people are coming up to Haliburton County to exchange information with us. These people have all been associated with the Addiction Research Foundation, and are professionals in the area of drug and alcohol abuse. The Addiction Research Foundation of Ontario is an official government agency which was established in 1949 to learn more about the effects of alcohol and other drugs. Its purpose was also to develop improved ways of preventing and managing alcoholic and drug dependence.

The key person in the forthcoming workshop is Ben Garrett. Mr. Garrett, who is the head of the Addiction Studies Centre at the Peterborough Civic Hospital, has been the person the Haliburton County Social Planning Council has frequently called for help while organizing the workshop. He, like most individuals in his field, has held many jobs in related areas. Before joining the Addiction Research Foundation in 1966 as Program Director, he had spent time as both a school teacher and a minister. He has served as a chaplain in the R.C.A.F. and a pastor at the Joyceville Federal Institute in Kingston. In 1967 he took over as Director of the Madison Halfway House in Toronto, which is a home for the chronic alcoholic. In 1972 he went to Peterborough to work for and represent the Addiction Research Centre in the Counties of Victoria, Northumberland, Durham, Haliburton and Peterborough. Ben Garrett will lead off the discussion in the morning by introducing the various areas of discussion.

Diane Hobbs is the former Director of Nursing for the A.R.F. She was the Director of Halfway House for Women in Windsor and is presently a Professional Development Consultant with the Addiction Research Foundation working with parents and teachers in the schools. She will be discussing the names, the descriptions and the effects of various drugs, both medical and non-medical.

R. Charles Simmons, M.A., has taught school from kindergarten to grade thirteen, has worked for the North York Board of Education as a consultant for Special Progress, and served as an Educational Consultant with the Addiction Research Foundation. At the present he is Project Chief of the Educational System with the Non-Medical Use of Drugs Directorate in Ottawa. His focus that Saturday will be "where do we go from here?"

David Ross is a lawyer who works with the Crisis Centre in Peterborough, and he will discuss the community, the law and what we can do to further understand our laws in relation to the abuse of alcohol and drugs.

There also will be a psychiatrist who is a member of the staff of the Peterborough Civic Hospital, and he will discuss how the community can look after and help itself.

The Workshop on Drug and Alcohol Abuse will be held at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School at 10:00 a.m. (registration starts at 9:00). The cost of $2.00 per person or $3.00 for a family of three or more covers lunch. Please register early, using the form below so that we may estimate the numbers for coffee and for lunch. For further information call any of the following: 457-1814, 457-1448 or 457-2755.

Sports Briefs —

How about those Expos, just half a game out of first place at time of writing. The series against Pittsburgh at home in Montreal from September 22 to 24 and in Pittsburgh from September 28 to 30 will no doubt settle the issue.

Argos in first place at the half-way point in the season. Quite a difference from last year when they were dead last with only one victory. I have a feeling we are going to see Toronto and Saskatchewan in this year's Grey Cup game in Toronto on November 25.

Congratulations goes out to George Athans who retained his World Waterski Title on Sunday in Bogoto.

Although Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds will probably be selected the most valuable player this year in the National League, I feel that Mike Marshall of the Montreal Expos should be chosen. Without Mike there is just no way the Expos would be fighting for a World Series berth. He has compiled an 11-9 won-lost record and has 64 saves to his credit.

For one who suffered far too much

Is resting in God's will.

The Forest Products Industry Today — And Not Fifty Years Ago

By LEN WAITO, Forest Products Accident Prevention Association

The day of the log camp and the box stove and bunk bed made out of poles or lumber and spruce branches or beaver hay no longer exist. Today when camps are used in the area they are oil heated with rooms for two. Recreation room, showers, TV and even in some cases they have their own ball teams. In today's camps every effort is made to make it a home away from home. In some areas there are very few camps as most of them commute — especially in this area.

The cross cut saw which had to be operated by two no longer exists or the swede saw which only required one man. Today we have very compact power saws to do the job and no longer the horse is used, especially in the larger and more productive operations. There are still a few horses being used, but I mean a few. Today the modern skidder is used, and since that the injury frequency has dropped especially to broken legs.

The logging industry is in great need for what we call professional woods workers. You can no longer pick them off the street and put them to work with this type of equipment.

There are many who do not know how to go about felling trees, and as a result are seriously injured or damage our good natural resources or equipment. A tree that takes anywhere from 100 to 150 years to grow can be damaged in seconds to nothing more than a worthless heap of wood due to the lack of knowledge and training in good felling practices.

The farm boy who used to get some of the basic training at home while cutting wood with his father no longer exists — the farmer does not burn wood, or very little, anymore.

We do have some colleagues in the area who have started to do some training in this field, but this will take a long time to fill the need which is required today.

It is indeed interesting to learn what some of our professional wood cutters are getting as a day's pay. Some of whom are working on piece work and know their job are making anywhere from $40.00 to $60.00 per day. I have heard it said from many operators that I am paying my cutters $50.00 per day — this for eight hours and pick him up at his home.

I was doing some training on felling for a particular firm up north and the average time that these cutters worked was six hours per eight hour day and transportation supplied by the company.

I personally feel the woods industry today is one of the highest paid industries, and still such a shortage of professional people resulting in a shortage of logs, pulp and lumber, and also higher prices in these and related products.

To be a wood cutter you do not need a master degree. We have many in our field who make just as much money as they do.

A special meeting was held on Monday, September 10, at the River Bend Motel in Bancroft. Present were Barry Martin of Martin Lumber, Bruce Gibbs of Wilberforce Veneer, Jim Campbell of the Guidance Department of North Hastings Secondary School, John Rouble who is Principal of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, and Len Waito of the Forest Products Accident Prevention Association of Pembroke. This meeting was held to try to set up a program in our area secondary schools to show our young people that the woods industry isn't as bad as many people have made it many years back. This is to be done by the use of slides and films, etc., on equipment of today. The name of the program is to be called "The Forest Products Day at our Schools".

JOHN 3:16

John 3:16 is a very well known passage of scripture, and yet it is not always understood. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

(1) "God so loved the world." God loved the people of this world even while they were yet sinners — Romans 5:8. It is sometimes hard to love those that love you, let alone loving those that hate you, but God has this kind of love.

(2) "That he gave his only begotten Son." This shows us just how much God loved us. He loved not only in word, but in deed. He gave His Son for those who didn't even believe that He was.

(3) "That whosoever." The door was left wide open, and "Whosoever will" has a way of escaping eternal destruction. All man has to do is reach out and take the saviour's hand.

(4) "Believe in him." There are many passages in the Bible that teach that man has to have faith. You cannot come to God without faith. There are no passages that teach that we are saved by faith alone. Many passages teach the very opposite, that is man has to do something besides believing. Look at Noah. He believed that God was going to save him, so he did what God told him to do — built an ark. It was his faith that saved him, because it made him do what God commanded. Our faith saves us the same way today; it makes us do what God commands us.

(5) "Should not perish, but have everlasting life." The key word in this passage is 'SHOULD'. A man who believes that his house is on fire, and believes that there is a way out, SHOULD not be burned up, because he believes that his house is on fire does not guarantee that he will not perish in the fire. This man must do something to get out of that burning house. You and I believe that Jesus is the Son of God, we believe that we are sinners, and being sinners lost. We believe that God has said that He would save us, and so we do the things that He commanded so that we might be saved.

James Hughett - Minister,
P.O. Box 458, Haliburton, Ont.

CAN MEN MAKE PEACE WITH THE EARTH?

For scores of years now men have been making war with the very earth on which they live. How? By worldwide pollution. Pollution is poisonous waste that man has caused and that has backed up into his water supply, into the air he breathes and the food he eats, until he cannot push it away. Thus man has endangered the most basic elements he needs for life. Those trusting in men to bring peace and security say that man will find a way to survive this crisis as he has survived past crises. They believe that human science will provide the solution. But the ones expressing the greatest doubts today are the scientists themselves. Dr. William D. McElroy, outgoing director of the National Science Foundation, said, "The simple truth today is that man's survival in an acceptable society is by no means assured . . . self destruction by environmental degradation is a real possibility." — Atlanta Journal. Men can invent and mass-produce machines, creating an industrialized society. But in using the machines they are ruining their own environment. As Dr. Rene Dubos, a pollution authority, says, "In my opinion there is no chance of solving the problem of pollution — or the other threats to human life — if we accept the idea that technology is to rule our future." Again the Bible foretold man's lack of wisdom in his use of earth's bounties. The prophecy at Rev. 11:18 foretold the time when Jehovah would have to take action "to bring to ruin those who are ruining the earth". And once more it becomes evident that the Bible reliably focuses on the true source of mankind's problems. Is it industry and machines? Not primarily. Primarily it is people who cause pollution. They pollute because of selfish desire or ignorance or both. They have built up the present economic systems to fulfill their desires, but now they find these systems taking away the very things they need in order to enjoy life. True, there is much said about ecology and research into earth's environment. But scientists still do not understand fully how earth's "ecosystems" (the biological relationships on which life depends) work. Time Magazine says of these, "Even the simplest is so complex that the largest computer cannot fully unravel it." Men admittedly do not understand the complex ecology of earth. But Jehovah does, because he created it. Is it not wise and practical to look to the Creator of these things to provide the solution to the problems?

SOME GOOD, SOME BAD IN MERRIE OLD U.K.

"Well, how did you find England after all those years?" This was the favourite question for people asking about our jaunt. I have a stock of stock answers.

"No trouble at all. We just went where the pilot took us." That sometimes shuts them up.

Another retort: "Just kept going until we heard a lot of Limeys chirping." I save that one for the Britons out here who haven't lost their accent.

Well, I found it greatly changed and much the same. Despite the levelling off economically, the old class system is still there, and causes even more animosity than it used to.

That is, the poor are better off, and the rich are taxed iniquitously, so there's less of a gap financially. But you are still labelled by your accent, your occupation, and your background. There is still woeful inefficiency in a multitude of things and amazing proficiency in others.

The standard of living has risen a good deal, but so have costs. The papers are headlined with rising food costs and their real estate took an upward surge a few years ago. A house there costs about the same as a similar one here.

Food is a little cheaper than ours. Drinks a little cheaper and a little weaker. Transport is a bit cheaper and twice as good as ours. That's because of the short distances, the heavy population, and the high cost, for the working man, of owning a car. The through trains rocket along at speeds up to a hundred m.p.h.

Employment? Almost complete, if you want a job. There are supposed to be half a million unemployed, but a businessman told me this represents only the unemployables, and those who don't want to work.

Everywhere, newspapers, store windows, there are 'Help Wanted' ads. Admittedly, a lot of the jobs are menial, but not all, by any means.

The Brits don't want the more lowly occupations. And that's why the black have moved in, mostly from the West Indies. They are the bus conductors, subway workers, waiters and unskilled labourers.

And whenever things tighten up a bit, there is resentment, and racial violence.

But there is a great shortage, right now, of both skilled and unskilled workers. The Post Office is desperately understaffed. Postal workers are working overtime, and some of them, bleats a newspaper, are falling asleep at their jobs. That has a familiar ring, somehow.

In London, the bus service is away below par, because it is short 4,500 bus drivers.

A chartered accountant told me that it's almost impossible to hire girls who can operate business machines. In desperation, he cajoled a former employee, a good operator, into coming back for a month. She was seven months pregnant. Slight catch. She lasted one hour. Couldn't get close enough to the machine to punch the keys.

A publisher in London advertised extensively for a secretary. He offered about $85 a week, a month's vacation and a bottle of champagne upon engagement. He got zero answers. In frustration, he printed 1,000 handbills and had his staff pass them out on the streets to likely-looking candidates. Result, four phone calls. Two of them were not interested. The other two made appointments for interviews. Neither turned up.

Another aspect of England that has changed, sadly, is the increase in violence. I met two young fellows in a pub. They were both employed and making about $100 a week. Yet they boasted of being Borstal boys (reform school). The elder, who seemed seething with rage at the world in general, and ready to start a row with anybody, had also been in prison. They were working class, but hated everybody above them in the system.

There have been racial riots involving whites, blacks and Indians.

London bus stop signs warn that "Owing to hooliganism and attacks on our staff" such and such buses will not run after a certain hour.

This summer there was an outbreak of sheer viciousness and vandalism among some groups of football fans. Drunken fights at the games. Ripping up railway cars and kicking in compartment doors and abusing passengers on the way home from the match. Motorcycle gangs terrorizing villages.

It sickens to hear of this sort of thing in dear old England, for years one of the safest and most peaceful countries in the world. But it's there.

Attend Resident Council Of Senior Citizens' Homes

Mrs. L. Rawlins, Miss D. Clarke and Mrs. A. Lewis had the pleasure of attending the first Resident Council Meeting of the Senior Citizens' Homes at the Westbury Hotel in Toronto on September 5 and 6.

The welcoming address was given by the Honourable Rene Brunelle to a gathering of over 200 persons. In his remarks he expressed his pleasure at seeing an increasing number of residents actively participating, not only in their Homes but at conventions, Senior Citizens' Week and related events. He stressed the immense change that has taken place in the past 70 years.

The workshops were interesting and very helpful, stressing three basic needs — to belong, security and friendship. Residents should be encouraged to take part in any programme according to their ability, the objective being that every resident be helped to realize his or her potential.

A very enjoyable programme was put on by a group from The Thompson House and The Smile Company of Toronto when George Murray and a very talented blind pianist entertained.

On the closing night after the banquet, a very interesting address by Mr. Lawrence Crawford, Director of Homes for the Aged, and an unexpected and inspiring singing of "How Great Thou Art" by a resident who was blind had the residents present joining in for the chorus after every verse. This seemed a fitting close to two very helpful and enjoyable days.

CARD of THANKS

I would like to take the opportunity to thank all my relatives, friends and neighbours for their cards, letters, flowers and visits during my stay in Peterborough Civic Hospital. Also a special thanks to Dr. Mewett and the other doctors and nurses who were so kind to me in Hutchinson 505.

Selina Adams.

CARD of THANKS

The Kilby family at Hilltop Market would like to take this opportunity to express their heartfelt thanks to the men of the Haliburton Volunteer Fire Department. Their immediate response to our fire call in the early hours of September 13 without a doubt saved our business. A very special thanks to dear Nellie Hone whose alarm saved the lives of three of our children. May the good Lord walk with her always.

We wish to take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the doctors, staff and residents of the Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home at Minden for their help and thoughtfulness during our recent bereavement.

The Boice Family.

We would like to take this opportunity to convey our sincere thanks and appreciation to our neighbours, friends and relatives for their help and thoughtfulness shown to us during our recent sad bereavement in the loss of a loving wife, mother and grandmother. A very special thanks to the drivers of the Haliburton Ambulance, Dr. Harry Good, the John Welch and Son Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service. A special thanks to the Reverend Robert Kasurak for his comforting words in our time of sorrow and also to the ladies of St. George's Anglican Church A.C.W. for their delicious lunch after the service. Again we say thank you, and may God bless you all.

The Feir Family.

IN MEMORIAM

BURKE — In loving memory of a devoted husband, Harry, who passed away on September 20, 1969.

A precious one, from me, has gone,

A voice I loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
No one can ever fill.

—Sadly missed by Marg.

BURKE — In loving memory of a dear Dad, Harry, who passed away on September 20, 1969.

God saw you getting tired,
When a cure was not to be,
So He closed His arms around you
And whispered, "Come home to me";

You didn't deserve what you went through,

And so He gave you rest,
God's garden must be beautiful,
As He only takes the best.

—Always loved and remembered by his daughter Leitha.

LEE — In loving memory of a dear sister, Gladys Lee, who passed away on August 31, 1972. Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,

The world's weary troubles and trials are past,

In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,

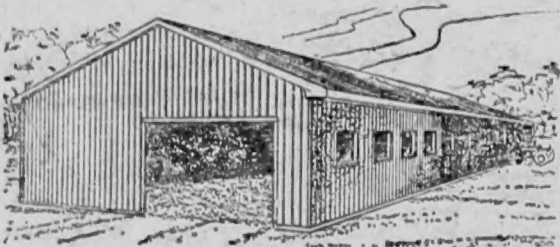

Till God called her home to suffer no more.

—Always remembered and sadly missed by sister Verna.
